

ASSOCIATION AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE SOCIETY OF EXPLORATION GEOPHYSICISTS OF JAPAN
AND THE
AUSTRALIAN SOCIETY OF EXPLORATION GEOPHYSICISTS

In recognition of the mutual interests of their members, and to advance the common goals and objectives of each Society, the Board of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists of Japan (SEGJ) and the Executive Committee of the Australian Society of Exploration Geophysicists (ASEG) have agreed to the mutual association of the two Societies, under the following terms:

1. Neither Society shall have any financial obligation to the other.
2. No member sponsorship shall be required to the members of one Society applying for associate membership of the other Society.
3. Each Society shall invite the other to send an accredited representative to participate in a non-voting capacity in its Annual General meeting.
4. The Business Officers of both Societies shall exchange announcements of technical meetings of their respective Societies.
5. The representatives of one Society attending the conference of the other Society, shall be entitled to one booth in the Exhibition Area of the conference to promote the activities and future conferences of the visiting Society at no charge, and shall be provided other courtesies of the host Society.
6. The two Societies shall exchange two copies of each issue of their respective journals, one for the files of their business office and one for their respective editorial committees.
7. Neither Society will publish the papers presented at the technical meeting of the other Society, unless otherwise a specific approval is obtained from the other Society.
8. Either Society may publish reviews or abstracts of the papers published by the other Society after notifying the current editorial committee of the publishing Society, as a matter of courtesy.
9. Members of the Societies may purchase special publications of the other Society, at the member prices of the publishing Society.
10. Other areas of cooperation, such as periodical discussions between the Board of the SEGJ and the Executive Committee of the ASEG, the holding of joint periodical workshops or the invitation of members as key-note or state-of-art speakers at the technical meeting of the respective Societies, shall be sought and considered, when feasible.
